Fall Into Safe, Reliable Driving with L&M Automotive

Fall is more than changing leaves, cooler weather, and seasonal activities—it's also one of the busiest times of year for your vehicle. As summer winds down, families shift into packed schedules filled with commuting, sports practices, errands, fall outings, and weekend activities. That means your car becomes one of the hardest-working parts of your daily routine. Just like preparing your home and family for the changing season, preparing your vehicle for the road ahead is just as important. A dependable vehicle helps keep your family on schedule, reduces stress, and gets everyone where they need to go safely.

After months of summer heat, road trips, and extra miles, your vehicle may need attention before fall is in full swing. Routine maintenance like oil changes, brake inspections, tire checks, fluid services, battery testing, and heating and A/C performance can make a major difference in safety and reliability. Preventative maintenance helps reduce the risk of unexpected breakdowns, protects your investment, and gives you peace of mind knowing your vehicle is ready for cooler temperatures and busy fall demands.

Here at L&M Automotive, we know how important reliable transportation is for your family. Whether it's the daily commute, running errands, or enjoying weekend fall activities, our team is here to help keep your vehicle safe, dependable, and road-ready. This fall, add vehicle maintenance to your checklist right alongside seasonal preparations and changing schedules—so you can focus on what matters most: a safe, smooth, and enjoyable season.

Charlie's Recipe
LEMON CHICKEN

Ingredients: serves 4
1 1/2 lbs. boneless skinless chicken thighs
1/3 cup extra virgin olive oil plus more for pan juice of 1 1/2 large lemons, plus 5-6 slices of lemon 1 medium onion, chopped
3 cloves garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon dried thyme
1 teaspoon dried oregano
kosher salt & pepper chopped Italian parsley for garnish

Instructions:
Preheat oven to 375F. Lightly drizzle olive oil in a glass baking dish or enamel pan. Add chicken thighs and set aside. In a large measuring cup or bowl mix together olive oil, lemon juice, onion, garlic, thyme and oregano until well combined. Pour onion mixture over chicken thighs and toss to coat. Nestle lemon slices around the chicken and season with salt & freshly cracked pepper. Place chicken into the oven and bake for 30-40 minutes (depending on the thickness of the chicken), until chicken is thoroughly cooked and the juice is bubbling. Cover the pan and let chicken sit for 5 minutes and sprinkle with fresh parsley. Serve on top of rice,

The Future of Automotive Repair Is Changing

L&M Automotive Is Ready

From routine maintenance to advanced diagnostics L&M Automotive is equipped, trained, and certified to service today's electric vehicles

We are ready, Are you?

The future of automotive isn't just electric—it's connected, software-driven, and technology-heavy. L&M Automotive is preparing today so we can continue serving our customers tomorrow.

What This Means for You

- Accurate diagnostics—not guesswork
- Up-to-date scan tools and programming capabilities
- Knowledge of modern electronics and vehicle communication systems
- ADAS awareness and calibration support
- Technicians who understand both traditional mechanical systems and emerging technology

Newer vehicles are now equipped with

- Advanced driver assistance systems (ADAS) like lane keep assist, adaptive cruise control, collision warning, and parking sensors
- Software-based diagnostics and vehicle programming
- Hybrid and electric vehicle systems
- Complex sensors, cameras, and calibration requirements
- Connected systems that monitor performance, safety, and maintenance needs

How L&M Automotive Is Prepared for the Future?

- Advanced diagnostic and scan-tool technology
- Digital vehicle inspections for greater transparency
- Hybrid and EV service capabilities
- Ongoing technician education and training
- Modern repair procedures for today's increasingly software-driven vehicles

THE BOTTOM LINE:

Many vehicle owners miss problems simply because symptoms haven't become obvious yet. Catching concerns early could save you hundreds; or even thousands, before your warranty period ends. Don't wait until coverage expires and repairs become your responsibility.

At L&M Automotive, our goal is simple:
Help you avoid unnecessary breakdowns, extend the life of your vehicle, and keep you driving happy for the long haul.
